Book Fair

Our annual Book Fair in Scoil Nano Nagle runs from June 4 – June 10.

Posters are displayed around the school. There is a great selection of books for all ages and interests. The children look forward to this every year and it is a valuable resource to the school as we get free books for the children!

It is organised by the Parents' Association and we are very grateful to them for running this fun event.

There are some good deals 3 books for price of 2 (cheapest book free!) with a great variety of books and some bargain books too! We also have a selection of stationery which always goes down a treat!

Please Note:

- Mornings: Please bring your child to their class first so that the teacher can mark them present.
- Afternoons: You can collect your child from their classroom on their assigned day to choose a book together.

Official Opening of Sensory Room

Adam Harris of AsIAM officially opened the Sensory Room last Thursday May 30th at 7.30 p.m. Both he and Mark Ward , Clondalkin Lord Mayor, spoke about the importance of this great asset to our school which is there to cater for the varied needs of the children in our school. A huge "Thank You" to Leona Rogers whose dream it was to provide such a space. Thanks also to Patrick Smith for the carpentry and to all the fundraisers, especially the ladies and children who completed the Ladies Mini- Marathon on Sunday June 2 in aid of the Sensory Room. The participants showed their medals to the children at Assembly on Tuesday. This really was a school and community effort. Your generosity is greatly appreciated. Photographs will be in Thursday June 6th edition on Clondalkin Echo.
